Women of Canada

"Be True to the Boys At the Front"

Sir Robert Borden in his manifesto says: "The franchise will be extended to women, not chiefly in recognition of devoted and capable service in the war, but as a measure of justice too long delayed. If men die, women suffer; if they are wounded, women heal; if they are maimed, women labor.

The franchise is extended to the women relatives of fighting Canadians, in order that they may help hasten Victory and bring the boys back from the trenches covered with the glory they have won.

A Vote for a Unionist Candidate Is a Vote for Reinforcements

The Union Government is pledged to carry on its work of raising the 100,000 reinforcements so urgently needed to support the Canadians at the front. Laurier and his adherents would stop this work, take a referendum, and experiment with voluntary enlistment, the possibilities of which have been exhausted. The most clear-headed, rightminded Liberals have gladly and without coercion helped to form the Union Government; they have weighed the pros and cons, they have not allowed politics to interfere with their patriotism, or their promise to our brave boys in France to "see them through.

Women Who Can Vote

21 years of age, resident in Canada one year, and in the constituency 30 days, who is the mother, wife, widow, daughter, sister or half-sister of any person. male or female, living or dead, who is serving or has served without Canada in any of the Military forces, or within or without Canada in any of the Naval forces of Canada or of Great Britain in the Present War, or who has been honorably discharged from such services, and the date of whose enlistment was prior to September 20th, 1917.

Such women should vote for the Unionist Candidate to ensure prompt reinforcements at the

That is why the vote is placed in the hands of those most dear to our soldiers, trusting that the wifely love and motherly devotion, and sisterly care, will vote as the boys would vote to carry on the work begu and so far continued in the heroic spirit of self thirst quencher.

However, man likes something a little snappier and livelier than water—something with more character to it. Hence he invented beer—just as good at hirst-quencher and more enjoyable.

Best of all, beer is decidedly beneficial, when used in moderation, as all good things should be. There is the essence of barley malt in it. That makes it a food. The hopes are a fine tome. Aside from these incredients and a trace of alcohol, daveleped in brewing, it is mainly pure water.

SILVER SPRAY Beer

Primarily, one drinks to quench the thirst. There is nothing the matter with absolutely pure water a
